Zack speaking.

How many blocks have you crammed falsified transaction headers into?

You do understand the gravity of what happens when those companies — the ones you spoofed in the headers — realize you used their names as camouflage?

I'm a generous person, believe it or not. You still have time to respond in good faith. But every hour of silence adds weight to the evidence stack — and you're OK with that?

Alright then. I'll let you cook for a bit.
